The total number of participants in the final stage is limited to 1000 athletes.

The final stage of “A. Bogali-SKIMiR Cup” in 2017 is the competition in Murmansk.

Each participant of the competition should have a corresponding program of athletic and technical preparation. The sending organization (or the training and accompanying representative) takes full responsibility for the condition of their athlete’s health and preparation for the competition.

5. Financing Conditions

Financing connected with organizational expenses for preparation and hosting the competition is accomplished thanks to the funds of the organizers and sponsors of the competition, other participating organizations, and budgetary funds from supporting administrative organs.

Expenses for participating athletes

Expenses for sending athletes (travel, food, accommodation, and insurance) are the responsibility of the sending organization.

The competition organizers may provide assistance to the participants in the form of accommodation and meals at a discounted rate as well as providing transportation to meet visiting teams. Likewise, transportation may be provided for teams from their accommodations to the competition start (if accommodations are located far away).

The competition organizers will provide the athletes with 5.6mm sporting rifles for shooting at a distance of no less than 50m in the biathlon (“Biathlon-7-3”, “Biathlon-7-4”, “Anschutz”, or other rifles, according to the rules of the competition), as well as providing ammunition. During the stage in Yuzhno-Sakhalinsk, the biathlon will use pneumatic rifles for shooting at a distance of 10m.

Competition participants may bring their own rifles if they correspond to the rules of the competition.

6. Safety Provisions for Participants and Spectators

In the interest of the participants' safety, the athletic events will be held in sports facilities approved for operations by government commissions, which have received a technical inspection of the sports facilities

The competition will be held in sports facilities which meet the demands of regulatory legislation (for the Russian Federation) with regards to providing order and safety for participants and spectators, on the condition that they have received a technical inspection certificate prior to the start of the competition, all approved in accordance with the established procedure. The provided sports equipment will meet standards.

Participation in the competition is only allowed if the athlete has with him or her (in the original) a life and health insurance policy covering accidents which must be presented to the credentials committee for each participant so that they may be admitted to the competition. The insuring of participants is an expense for which the sending organization bears responsibility.

Each participant must have a doctor’s note confirming a clean bill of health. This is the basis for admittance to the sporting competition.

27 March 2017	Day of departure

Note:

Shooting events take place without running with the rifle. Participants of shooting events in the competition in the 2000-2001 and 2002-2003 age groups will shoot with a belt. Participants from the 2004-2005 and 2006-2007 age groups will shoot with a support. 5.6mm, small-caliber rifles are used for a distance of no less than 50 meters in the biathlon. Competition participants may use their own rifles if they correspond to the rules of the competition.

The team line-up for the mixed relay is decided in each age group by a randomized draw irrespective to the participant's regional affiliations.

8. Determining the Winners

The champions and medalists in individual events are determined in each different event and in each age group (with boys and girls as separate groups) according to the rules of the competition.

Awards

In each type of event (individual races), participants in first through sixth place receive awards. Participants in first through third place are awarded a commemorative prize, a medal, and a certificate. Participants in fourth through sixth place are awarded a commemorative prize and a certificate. The trainers of the winners are also awarded a commemorative prize. In the relay, the teams in first through third place are awarded (medals, certificates, and commemorative prizes).

The organizers reserve the right to give out further awards and special prizes from the sponsors and other organizations.

Calculating Cup points and determining the grand champion of the Cup

Participants of any of the Cup's stages, placing first through fifteenth in each variant of the individual races are given Cup points. In the final stage (Murmansk), points are given for the first forty places. The grand champion of the Cup is determined for each age group (with boys and girls as separate groups) according the total number of cup points accumulated in all individual disciplines over all the stages of the Cup, including the final stage.
